REAL TOOLS FOR REAL TRADERS

Disclaimer: Investment in the sharemarket has inherent risks. Profits might be made, but losses may be incurred. MDSnews Australia does not give personal investment advice or make personal securities recommendations. Contact a licensed investment advisor or securities dealer for personal investment advice or personal securities recommendations. All figures in the performance table above are based on the Professional and Part-time service and trading the stock outright. (There are no derivative or leveraged returns quoted in the figures). All recommendations listed in the performance table above met the trade entry criteria outlined in our reports and were considered triggered. These trades were not executed in a live market and therefore these results do not represent actual trading. Since trades have not actually been executed, results may vary due to market factors such as lack of liquidity, slippage and commissions. The monthly returns quoted do not include transaction commissions and transaction slippage which can erode a significant proportion of the return. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses similar to those shown above.
